

Social Work – Bachelor Studies (I-st degree)

The studies within Social Work field are not divided into specialties.

❖ FIELD SUBJECTS

legal aspects of social work and aid, the foundations of social pedagogy and animation, social aid systems in the world, social work with a client, group and environment, work with the addicted, work the addicted people families, designing social work, addiction and homelessness prevention, local communities animation, family assistance

❖ STRONG POINTS OF THE STUDIES

Bachelor studies within the field of social work are practically oriented: our students take part in various activities conducted by social work practitioners gaining knowledge of the forms and methods of work, in continuous and mid-term practices enabling them to create, develop and evaluate their own working tools. Our students are very much welcome to deepen both their general and strictly professional knowledge in:

- various students' scientific organizations – including social work scientific society in the Institute of Pedagogy and Social sciences Faculty;
- Both international (ERASMUS+) as well as domestic (MOST – “Bridge”) exchange programs
- working for Both international as well as domestic Voluntary service programs;
- Taking part in students' council
- cooperating with external stakeholders: The institutions of help and reassurance as well as social integration bodies Including: Social and Family Aid Units, Foundations and associations focused on social integration and Help,
- lectures and workshops conducted in cooperation with social workers possessing practical experience.

❖ THE PERSPECTIVES OF EMPLOYMENT

Social work (Bachelor Studies – I-st degree) is a field giving qualifications for work as a social worker compatible with Polish Law regarding qualification requirements.

The graduates of these studies can be employed – on the post of social worker in social aid units, social aid houses, family aid units, environmental social aid units, daily living houses, the multifunctional organizations of intervene profile, hospices, dormitories, NGO's, institutions supporting refugees and the addicted and hospitals.

Social work also prepares for working with families and children as a family assistant as well as for working with the use of the local communities' organizing method in institutions of social work or NGO's.

Our graduates also gain qualifications for developing and mastering their professional career with in the post-graduate studies for social work organizers, which enables them to be employed in: social policy departments, regional social aid units or as a managing staff in all possible social aid institutions in accordance with Polish Law.